STRIKE A FAILURE IN ST. PETERSBURG

Railway Employees Refuse to Go Out and City is Quiet.

Between Sixty and Seventy Thousand Obeys Order to Quit Work in Russian Capital.

WORKMEN HURT IN STRUGGLE.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 6.—It is estimated this morning that only 60,000 of the quarter of a million workmen in the city obeyed the summons for a general strike. The authorities are doing everything in their power to break the strike. The perfect utilized the workmen on the trainway systems that they will be heavily fined for striking. At Apratian market the strike agitators were loudly beaten by anti-strikers who refused to quit work. Twenty workmen were injured in clashes with the police yesterday. The city is quiet this morning. Three newspapers appeared.

Liberals Hesitate at War.

St. Petersburg, August 6.—Unless disturbances from the interior in a few hours entirely change the situation, the general strike promises to prove a complete failure. Although Liberals strongly opposed the course of the government they shrink from precipitating a revolution and the horrors of civil war into which the country would be plunged, if the plans of the strike leaders are successful.

Chief of Police Resigns.

Helsingfors, August 6.—Chief of Police Maini and his two adjutants have resigned as a consequence to the recent disorders. Major Pergh, a Finlander from the Russian army, was appointed to succeed Maini.

Strike Falls in Purpose.

St. Petersburg, August 6.—The fate of the general strike, which, although it had affected about 70,000 men here, has met with only slight response in other sections and probably will be decided today by adverse public opinion.

Lack of union among the leaders of the proletarian organizations is playing against the success of the movement.

The railroad men upon whom the success of the entire movement depends, are still working full time.

General Strike Spreading.

St. Petersburg, August 6.—Strikers have torn up the ironov railway. The general strike is spreading to Moscow and Rostoff.

To Finance Revolution.

London, Aug. 6.—Reynolds' News paper, in a sensational article this morning, says that the European financiers heavily interested in Russian securities are offering to furnish money with which to place the Russian revolutionary movement upon a business footing.

According to the newspaper's source of information, those bankers with trustworthy information at hand, gleaned by their agents in all the principal towns of Russia, have reached the belief that the regime of the czar is all but ended and that the sooner the end comes the better it will be for Russia.

A cogent reason which is said to actuate the financiers in their advance to the revolutionists is, according to Reynolds, the fear that the revolutionists when they come into power will be likely to repudiate the Russian obligations contracted by the czar. The bankers want to become friends of the revolutionists now.

ROOM CIGARET FOR "JACKIES."

Though Crusade is Adye in England, Admiralty Favors It.

London, August 6.—The anti-cigarette crusade never was more active in England than at present. The outcome is projected legislation regarding the juvenile smokers. It seems curious therefore, that the British admiralty should select this time to popularize cigarette smoking in the navy. Forty years the popularity of the pipe and sailors' powerful plug tobacco has been decreasing. The admiralty, recognizing this, has determined to issue one cut tobacco, suitable for cigarette rolling, at the low price of 1 shilling a pound to sailors, who always receive tobacco duty free.

By the consent of the people of Paducah, The Sun has the largest circulation in the city and county. The average for July was 1132 a day.

Ashbury Spicer's Assassins.
Jackson, Ky., August 6.—Word reached here this afternoon that Captain Mullkin's bloodhound, Nick Carter, which was placed on the supposed trail of the assassins of Ashbury Spicer early this morning and followed the scent for a distance of about three miles to the home of Jacob Terry, a merchant on the Middle Fork of the Kentucky river, rushed into the house and reared upon a bed then seemed to quit the chase. Upon inquiry from Terry, it was learned that two men, Bob Terry and Miles Candill, had slept in that bed the night before.

To Be Held at Buenos Ayres.
Ha De Jometeo, August 6.—It is virtually decided that the next meeting of the Pan-American congress will be held at Buenos Ayres in 1910. This would involve a change in the arrangements for the observance of the hundredth anniversary of Argentina's independence.

NO CERTIFICATE

SO ST. LOUIS COUPLE ARE SINGLE IN EYES OF CHURCH.

Judge Lightfoot Issues License and Performs Ceremony—Habib Demands Proof.

Because they had no certificate to show they were married by a civil magistrate in Paducah, Gus Ketchen and Fannie Singer, of St. Louis, who under the statutes are man and wife, were denied the privilege of being joined according to the rites of the Jewish church yesterday. Morris Klein, of 132 Broadway, a shoe dealer, is a friend of the groom and he has been requested to secure the necessary papers at the court house. The couple were married at the court house July 22 by Judge Lightfoot, who also issued the marriage license. Both the clerk and deputy were away at the time, thus placing the duty of issuing license on the county judge. He did so and then married the couple, but no record has been made of it. Mr. Klein will receive the necessary certificate this afternoon and mail it to the anxious couple.

Chicago Bank Closes.
Chicago, Aug. 6.—The Milwaukee Avenue State bank has closed its doors.

"We had a successful show last fall," Mr. Phillips said today, "and we feel confident that the one this year will prove even more so. It was a good thing for Paducah, and its merchants, and a good thing for the stock industry in Western Kentucky, as a surprisingly large number of entries were entered in every contest."

"This year we are receiving a good many of inquiries from stock raisers, and from all indications we shall have a fine program."

"It is fitting that Paducah should take an interest in the event as the benefits from the association are estimable. Other West Kentucky towns have seen and appreciated them, and we shall have horse shows in many of the neighboring towns this fall."

The dates for the Paducah association meet are October 4, 5 and 6.

TERrible HEAT

CAUSES MANY DEATHS IN NEW YORK CITY.

Scenes Are Overcome and Last Night Was the Worst Experience of Season.

New York City, Aug. 6.—The city and vicinity is boiling and steaming in a torrid wave. Many are dead from heat. Scores are prostrated. Great distress and suffering is evident among the poor. Last night was the severest experienced during the present heated term. It will add heavily, physicians declare, to the mortality among infants and aged people.

Two Die in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Aug. 6.—At 9 o'clock the temperature reached 86. The weather bureau estimated that 90 will be passed during the day. Two deaths and many prostrations are reported.

A. P. A. Trouble Revived.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 6.—Burk Thompson, shot last night by John Yeaman, died within an hour, and Yeaman was hustled into jail for fear of mob violence. Today his brother O. N. Yeaman, was arrested as an accessory. It is claimed he knocked Thompson down before John Yeaman shot him. The tragedy has revived the old antagonism between the A. P. A. faction and the Irish, and there is danger. In the state of public excitement that other tragedies may follow. Yeaman is to have a preliminary hearing in the morning.

Kentucky Postmasters.
Washington, August 6.—The following Kentucky postmasters were appointed today: Cadiz, G. P. Thomas; Hazel, Calloway county, Pearl Mason.

HORSE SHOW WEEK WILL BE GALA TIME

Retail Merchants' Association to Aid.

Rebelling to Out-of-Town Customers Continued With Prospect of Success.

OTHERS ASKED TO JOIN THEM

The Retail Merchants' association has made arrangements to continue refunding the railroad fare to out-of-town purchasers, and has appointed a committee to solicit funds from merchants outside of the association, who are benefited by the advertising the association does. There are a number of establishments, such as the drug stores, soda water establishments, restaurants, hotels, and various lines of business, which are greatly benefited by the advertising and the association.

"We have done well with the scheme," said a member of the association today. "The first season, which was last fall, it was a new thing to us, and not properly conducted, but the spring season was a success and we feel, with the knowledge we have gained, that this fall it will prove a fine thing for every member of the association and to the city.

We should like to raise a fund of $1,500 to $2,000 and think we can, and with that to work on we know we shall obtain good results. We feel that there are a number of lines of business outside of the association that are nearly as much benefited as we, and we are going to ask them to come in with us with a donation. Some have already volunteered to do so, and we feel confident nearly every one will.

The Horse Show.

"The Horse Show will give us an opportunity to offer entertainment for our visitors this fall, and we intend to help the promoters of it all we can."

President Robert B. Phillips, of the Horse Show association, will call a meeting of the chairman of the principal committees of the association to outline the work for the different committees some time in the near future. The date for the show is not so far off now, and active work should be started, he thinks, at once.

"We had a successful show last fall," Mr. Phillips said today, "and we feel confident that the one this year will prove even more so. It was a good thing for Paducah, and its merchants, and a good thing for the stock industry in Western Kentucky, as a surprisingly large number of entries were entered in every contest."

"This year we are receiving a good many of inquiries from stock raisers, and from all indications we shall have a fine program."

"It is fitting that Paducah should take an interest in the event as the benefits from the association are estimable. Other West Kentucky towns have seen and appreciated them, and we shall have horse shows in many of the neighboring towns this fall."

The dates for the Paducah association meet are October 4, 5 and 6.

BLACKLIST CASES.

Will Be Presented Against the L. & N. Railroad.

Washington, August 6.—Instructions were sent by department justice to the district attorneys of Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama, to bring additional suits in each of those states against the Louisville & Nashville railroad for alleged violations of the so-called arbitration act of 1898, concerning carriers engaged in inter-state commerce and their employees. The cases grow out of the discharge of telegraph operators, members of the order of Railway Telegraphers.

Accidentally Shoots Himself.

Hickman, Ky., Aug. 6.—John Knobell, a prominent citizen accidentally shot himself with a shotgun at noon. He was dismowned and his death is momentarily expected.

Kentucky Postmasters.

Washington, August 6.—The following Kentucky postmasters were appointed today: Cadiz, G. P. Thomas; Hazel, Calloway county, Pearl Mason.

THREE HUNDRED ITALIANS DROWN

Emigrant Ship Sinks and Captain Shoots Himself.

Terrible Scenes as Crazed Men Attack Crew and Women With Knives.

SIRIO STRIKES A ROCKY REEF

Cartagena, Spain, Aug. 6.—A terrible marine disaster occurred Saturday evening off Cape Palos. The Italian steamship Sirio, from Genoa for Barcelona, Cadiz, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, with about 800 persons on board was wrecked off Hormigas Island.

Three hundred immigrants, mostly Italians and Spaniards, were drowned. The captain of the steamer committed suicide.

The bishop of San Pedro was lost and it is reported another bishop is among the missing.

The remainder of the passengers and officers and crew got away in the ship boats or were rescued by means of boats sent to them from the shore.

A number of fishermen who made attempts at rescue were drowned.

Those rescued from the vessel are now at Cape Palos in a pitiable condition, being without food or clothing.

The Sirio struck a rocky reef known as Bajos Hormigas and sank soon after, stern first. Hormigas Island lies about two and a half miles to the eastward of Cape Palos.

The Sirio was owned by the Navagazione Italiana, of Genoa.

Before he committed suicide the captain declared that he had 654 passengers on board and that her crew numbered 127 men. The Sirio had 579 passengers on leaving Genoa, August 2, but additional Spanish passengers were taken on board at Barcelona, where the vessel touched a few hours before the disaster.

Wild Panic Ensued.

The vessel began to settle rapidly immediately she had struck and a terrible scene of confusion and panic ensued on board.

Fishermen along the coast fought to render every assistance in their power and sent out boats which brought many survivors to shore.

Most of the officers and crew of the Sirio are among the saved.

The survivors have gone into camp on the main square of the town at Cape Palos.

The captain of the Sirio just before he killed himself attributed the wreck to his own imprudence.

Women Forgotten.

London, Aug. 6.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Telegraph describes the Sirio disaster as one of the worst on record. Italian emigrants with knives in their hands and without regard for women or children, fought with the greatest brutality for possession of life boats and boats.

Many were killed or wounded, including several members of the crew who were attacked by emigrants.

When the captain saw the vessel was lost and that the emigrants had captured the boat he committed suicide by shooting with a revolver.

Other officers then lost their heads and there was nobody to direct the work of rescue.

Eye witnesses give awful pictures of the brutal panic on board. For half an hour the emigrants were masters of the situation. They completely overcame the crew by the force of numbers, and this in spite of the efforts of the officers who tried to save the women and children first.

One report even states, the correspondent continues, that a group of emigrants approached one of the ships boats which already was full and which was about to be launched and dislodged people, killing several with knives.

Thieves Frightened Away.

Guest Seizes Revolver but They Do Not Return.

Thieves visited the residence of Mrs. Emily Morrow, on Kentucky avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets this morning at an early hour but did not succeed in entering. A guest heard them and secured his pistol to ward them off but they did not come back.

PARK BOND ISSUE BEFORE COUNCIL

Lower Board Will Consider Measure Tonight.

Extension of Street Railway System Out Nineteenth Street Will Come Up.

SALOON LICENSES ARE SOUGHT

Park bonds will be one of the important topics of consideration before the board of councilmen at the meeting tonight, when a measure providing for an election on the question of issuing $100,000 in municipal bonds for the purchase and improvement of a system of public parks, will be introduced.

There seems to be no doubt as to the action of the general council in calling the election, as it is understood that both the administration and the council favor the proposition. Business men, when they understand that the issue does not contemplate an increase in the rate for park purposes above that established by the charter, are unanimously in favor of the issue, and the general council will afford the people an opportunity to vote on the question.

It is proposed to hold the bond election on the regular November election day, thus incurring no additional expense for the purpose. This easily can be done and the law complied with, if the general council takes immediate action.

It is probable that the franchise ordinance for the Nineteenth street extension of the street railway company's lines will be ready for introduction in the lower board tonight. The new line will reach Worten's addition, which is now without transportation facilities.

It is understood that applications will be made for licenses to open saloons in locations closed up by the refusal of licensees to the former proprietors. Theodore Peters will ask to open a saloon at 1040 Broadway and Oscar Denker will ask for one to open a saloon at 1043 Kentucky avenue. Bud Quarles' old stand near the Union station also has an applicant. Two of the applicants were refused licenses in June.

UNCLE SHELBY CULLOM

Defeats Governor Yates in Primary Election.

American Machinists Return.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 6.—Fifty American machinists with their families who arrived at El Paso from Mexico, say they were forced from their positions by striking Mexicans.

HEAD HUNTERS

AMBUSH AMERICAN TROOPS AND KILL MAJOR.

Pulajanes, Getting Active, Surprise Village and Kill Several People.

Manila, Aug. 6.—Renewed activity is being shown by the Pulajanes and head hunters in Leyte and Cayahan islands. Sunday morning 300 Pulajanes surprised the police of Ahilog, killing an ex-president of the village and two constabulary men and three policemen. Major Crawford in command of the United States troops on the island was ambushed by a party of head hunters. Major Crawford, Captain Knauber and several soldiers were wounded by the arrows of the savages.

Today's Schedule.

Jacksonville at Paducah.

Mattoon at Cairo.

Vincennes at Danville.

Wilby Piatt, the southpaw, pitched a double header for Paducah yesterday.

Piatt was in good form.

First game: Paducah, 6; Mattoon, 1.

Second game: Paducah 4; Mattoon, 3.

This is the story of Sunday's games, and the fans are jubilant over the result. Piatt infused energy and the team seemed to take on new life. Everybody played and the way the boys handled themselves would have done credit to a big league team.

Lloyd did star fielding. Asher did some hard driving. In fact, the entire team hit and ran bases as the Indians never did before.

The crowd was large the fact that Wilby was in the box for the Indians proving a good drawing card. He was the same old Wilby and never once showed that he was doing anything out of the ordinary. He had the Hostlers at his mercy from start to finish, although in the second game they drove the Indians close in shore.

The first game was uninteresting except for the fact that Piatt allowed so few hits.

The second game was close, and although Piatt did not weaken, a few bunched hits netted two runs in the fifth inning.

Platt overcame the hitting streak and it was "23" for the Hostlers in the ninth.

There was a great deal of rag chewing on the part of the Hostlers but no one was benched.

Langdon got mad in the eighth inning and quit, and Johnson took his place behind the bat.

SOUTHERN STATES NEED MORE LABOR

Raising Wages Does Not Accomplish Purpose.

Operatives for Mills Are Not Available and Many Factories Are Shut Down.

IMMIGRATION THE SOLUTION

The secretary of the Draper company of Hopedale, Mass., who has recently been making a thorough study of business conditions in the south, in the monthly bulletin entitled "Cotton Chats" just issued by that company, discusses the labor conditions in the south as follows:

"A recent two months' tour of the south afforded a confirmation of the views long held by the writer regarding the scarcity of cotton-mill labor. From Virginia to Alabama the mills were universally suffering from lack of help. Some were running full but they were not usually getting full product, as they could not busier on the highest possible efficiency with the operatives in such an independent frame of mind. Raising of wages had not improved the conditions because of a general raising of wages in other lines of employment in the same vicinity. Higher wages, in fact, had ready lessened the labor supply, because the help could earn enough to meet their ordinary needs without working full time. The competition of the mills for help also further limited the supply, as the help was shifting around from one mill to another, consuming considerable time in traveling. It is estimated that there was enough help on the cars and carts journeying from mill to mill to run all the idle spindles. Families were being offered transportation expense, and in some cases their debts at the local stores were also canceled. It is hard to conceive of a more demoralizing state of affairs."

"As there seems to be no solution of this country where a supply of men is involved, intelligent labor exists, the only solution of the problem is in carefully selecting immigrants. Large numbers of these are constantly arriving at the north, but very few of them are settling in the southern states. I heard of certain experiments in the field of inducing immigration but there seemed to be a distinct prejudice against the more naturally available. People are easily seduced to similar conditions. The climate of the south is not very different from that of northern Italy. The success of recent cotton mills in northern Italy shows that people readily learn to operate cotton machinery, and those of us who have had some experience with cultivators of these people who have settled in our northern states believe that they have the making of excellent citizens."

The south has tremendous possibilities; in fact its present development is amazing to the outsider. It has wonderful resources, but it needs workers to develop them. These workers should be selected without prejudice and made as comfortable as possible in their new surroundings."—Manufacturers' Record.

An Anecdote of Paganini.

One night Paganini was going to the Paris opera house, where he was to perform before playing on one string. Holding him, he took a cab, and when he arrived at his destination the public wanted ten francs. "What?" he exclaimed. "You are crazy. I have only had you five minutes." "I know it is much," said the other, "but for you who make a fortune by playing on one string it must be ten francs." "Well," said Paganini handing him the right fare, "when you can make your eagle go on one wing come to me and I will give you ten francs." La Carlentini.

The No. 1 fire company was called to the Whitehead restaurant on Broadway between Second and Third streets at 1 o'clock this morning. A great volume of smoke was pouring from the rear of the building. When the firemen fought their way to the fire it was discovered to be a small 6 by 8 wood-shed. A barrel of lime stored in the shed. It is thought, started the blaze. The damage will amount to about $10.

DOG POLICEMAN

SAVES HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF COAL.

Dick Tolbert's Pet Chases Trespassers Out of Illinois Central Yards.

There will be a new name on the pay rolls of the Paducah Illinois Central if the efforts of Special Policeman Dick Tolbert, who stands the day watch at the shops and in the yards, count for anything.

Tolbert has a dog, an ordinary looking canine. It appears to have some bird dog blood in it, but its nature is as far from that of a bird dog as can be imagined. It shows symptoms of pugnacity at the right time and Policeman Tolbert has made use of this trait.

"That dog is the best policeman for 'coal pickers' I ever saw," the policeman declared. "He can scent a coal picker for squares and has proven himself a terror among them. They congregate about coal trains after they have been idle tracked, and park coal. The dog displays a great deal of sense and required but little teaching to show him that coal pickers are trespassers and with no business carrying away company coal. He sent them every time he sees them and there are fewer coal pickers in the yards now than have been in some time."

Policeman Tolbert declares he will try to have his pet put on the payroll for "tritons" at least. This much he thinks, is coming to him.

LITTLE HOPE

POW RECOVERY OF CAPT. T. J. MOORE IS ENTERTAINED.

Independent Operation for Appendicitis at Riverside Hospital Saturday.

Captain T. J. Moore, the well-known detective, is at Riverside hospital in a serious condition the result of an operation performed on him Saturday by Dr. Horace T. Ryers. He became ill Thursday of what was thought to be stomach trouble, but developed to be appendicitis, and Saturday he was taken to Riverside hospital, where he was operated on. He was considered in a precarious condition Saturday night, but Sunday morning was able to rest a little. Last night he rested well and today is reported about the same. His physicians hope for the best, but say he has little chance of recovery. Captain Moore's family arrived in Paducah yesterday.

"SKIDDOW" WORK

MEANING OF FIGURE IN ILLINOIS CENTRAL PAY-ROLL.

Twenty-three Extra Car Repairers Added to Force at Local Shops.

The wistful figure "23" holds no terrors for the Illinois Central and E. Gourieux, foreman of the freight car repairing shops. The railroad does not permit itself to be deterred in any of its endeavors, and this fact was demonstrated this morning when extra men were employed because of an increase in the repair work and the fact that all the rolling stock is being prepared for the fall rush.

Twenty-three extra car repairers were employed this morning. This figure was the exact number the road required for the work on hand. "It means 'skiddoo' for the extra amount of work on hand."

Twenty People Injured, But None is Killed.

Coal Train Plunges Down Twenty-foot Embankment and Fifteen Is Killed.

INTERURBAN CARS COLLIDE

St. Genevieve, Mo., August 6.—Twenty people were injured in a head-on collision between a passenger and a freight train on the Frisco road here Sunday. The engines were demolished and the tracks torn up for a considerable distance. The injured were taken to St. Louis on a special train.

The passenger train was a special from St. Louis bearing representatives of the Knights of Columbus. Girls and horses comprised the injuries, and none of the passengers were fatally hurt. The engine crews jumped and escaped.

It is claimed that the accident was due to the freight train running on the main track from a switch when it should have kept on the switch until the passenger train passed.

Electric Cars Crash.

Worcester, Mass., August 6.—Two cars met in a head-on collision in Worcester Sunday and 17 persons were injured. The most seriously injured are:

Campello Presto, Boston; Miss Bertha Royce, Worcester; Roland Johnson, Worcester.

Down An Embankment.

Chicago, Ill., August 6.—Charles McGinn, a fireman of Dixon, Ill., was killed and A. W. Loekman, an engineer of this city, was severely injured today when part of a coal train on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad jumped the track and fell 20 feet down the embankment at Fortieth avenue and Kinzie street.

Interurban Cars Crash.

Danville, Ill., August 6.—A heavily loaded car on the Danville Urbana interurban line was overturned while rounding a sharp curve here today. Kelly Smoot, a constable, was killed and twenty passengers seriously injured. The accident was caused by the drawbar pulling out of the front truck.

NEW BALLAST CARS.

Nearly One Hundred Latest Design Sent Here.

The Paducah district of the Illinois Central road is receiving a consignment of a little less than one hundred new Rogers ballast cars. Thirty-five have arrived to date, and the remainder will be here within the next two weeks. These cars are the biggest type of ballast cars made, and can be used for coal or ballast. The end doors can be lifted. The Illinois Central handles more coal and ballast from the Paducah district than from anywhere else south of the Ohio river, and every convenience is given the officials in the handling of business.

HAPPY RESULTS

Have Made Many Paducah Residents Bathastic.

No wonder scores of Paducah citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Paducah by Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. H. Roark, of 1027 South Fifth street, says: "I do not want it understood that Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Alvey & List's drug-store, have radically cured me of attacks of backache, but I have been benefited incalculably by the treatment. I never expected to be free from kidney complaint, for I have suffered excruciatingly when the attacks were at their height. I could not stoop without pain; could not straighten after stooping without twinges and often was unable to turn in bed without actually groaning. Any remedy which gives the relief that Doan's Kidney Pills have given to me deserves the endorsement of the public."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Millburn company, Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. The blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, rest food and so see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and abdominal distress. It is not hard work, nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous half-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Brattleboro, Vt. Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicinal agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money, to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for therapeutic and medicinal purposes.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle sold, gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objection to the use of an animal or vegetable remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor is it patent either. This fact puts it in a class all by itself, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper the badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures, weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, toothache, rheumatism, ulceration of stomach and bowels, and all chronic affections no matter what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate, stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equalled. Sugar-coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.

WAS CRUELLY TREATED.

Declare New York Physicians of the Syrian Leper.

New York, Aug. 6.—New York has no bar up against the pariah of West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, the leper who has been driven out, shunted, side-tracked, forbidden to cross New Jersey, and kept a prisoner in a freight car with no regular supply of food or water.

Dr. Doty, quarantine officer, after a meeting yesterday of the New York board of health, said: "As the two medical members of the board of health, Dr. Darlington and I are agreed that in New York leprosy is not a factor in state sanitation; we don't consider it at all further than to hold that in this country it is not a menace to the public. No, there is no prohibition against this poor outcast coming to New York."

"I think it most inhuman the way this man has been treated," declared Dr. Doty. "In what I say I speak also for Commissioner Darlington. What this leper wanted to do probably was to get to New York, where there is a large colony of his people, the Syrians, his hope being that his countrymen would help him to be transported to his home. There is something wrong about his wanting to reach North Brothers Island. No lepers are there."

"In New York leprosy is no factor. Leprosy is one of those disorders medical science knows very little about. Dealing with facts as we do, and not with theories, we have learned that though leprosy occurs in parts of the United States, there are no reported instances of one case having caused others. There is a popular fear of it. But the facts as they have been observed do not warrant the fear."

Buy a Pair and Make an Old Suit New

THIS sale is probably awaited with more interest than any of our money-saving cut price sales, with the exception of the suit sale, as the economical dressers recognize the opportunities it affords of making a new suit out of an old one by the addition of a pair of odd trousers. The trousers usually wear out long before the coat to a suit seems worn, and the addition of a new pair renews the suit.

In this sale we have put all of our odd trousers, and there are just any number of most excellent bargains in the lot—the famous Paragon trousers being among them.

Daily Thought.
"Do your best and then stop worrying."

The fire in an outhouse in the rear of Broadway between Second and Third streets, which, while of little consequence so far as actual loss was concerned, jeopardized the business section for a few minutes early this morning, points to a menace, which Paducah would do well to get rid of. It seems strange that business men, who take the precaution to keep their property well insured, will erect these little frame fire traps in the rear of their premises, simply to save a few dollars immediate expense. But such is human nature and we adopt laws to protect us against our own short-sightedness. From Fourth street to the river the rear of Broadway on both sides represents every opportunity for a disastrous fire. We have a fire limit ordinance, which will prevent the erection of any more of these shacks, but those now in existence should be torn down. They subserve no useful purpose, nor are they ornamental. Only the rats would be disturbed by their destruction.

The Commercial club has announced the Jackson's Purchase Immigration convention to meet in Paducah October 4-5. Secretary Coons has been in communication with representative citizens in neighboring counties, and has secured replies, which indicate enough interest in the project to warrant the club in proceeding with the arrangements. This promises to be one of the most important gatherings in Western Kentucky, and Paducah should extend to the visitors not only the utmost hospitality on that occasion, but should evince such enthusiasm in the immigration movement as to send the delegates home with irresistible arguments in favor of the plans adopted by the convention. It is time for everybody to study the immigration question in its application to local conditions.

A substantial bridge over Island creek to Mechanicsburg; the rehabilitation of the municipal lighting plant at a cost far below the original estimate; seven miles extension of the sewerage system; the adoption of measures enabling the people to acquire a park system at an early date; and a substantial reduction in the tax rate—all without a breath of scandal, or honest, adverse criticism—coupled with the closest scrutiny of every item of public business that came before the body, will form a pretty compactly built platform for the members of the present general council to stand on before the people at the next election. "Pointing with pride" is always a stronger argument at an election than "viewing with alarm."

row night. There is still before the board the matter of electing teachers. The whole corps is being held up by a deadlock over one position. The citizens of Paducah, who are interested in the welfare of the children, are watching the board. It is time to "get together gentlemen." More momentous questions than the election of one school teacher have been settled harmoniously by more imposing bodies than the Paducah school board, and more difficult problems will confront public bodies in the future. We have no inclination to criticize any trustee, who stands up for what he considers the best interests of the schools; but just now we believe that the best interests of the schools will be subserved by the settlement of this disputed question one way or the other, and that without delay.

In either the size of Paducah and larger, weeds in vacant lots are not allowed to stand very long and the owners or the property are made to have them cut down. They are unhealthy and the boards of health have so decided, says the Mayfield Messenger.

In either sense it is true, "weeds are not allowed to stand," just as men are not allowed to "tote pistols" in Kentucky. It is unlawful for weeds to stand and for men to "tote pistols;" but weeds do stand and men never accepted the dedication.

Who will run against Bryan?" ask the journals, that make a business of "moulding public opinion" in a thousand fanciful forms on every question that remotely resembles an issue; and their insistent query is answered by the statesmen, who have to keep thinking to avoid being forgotten. The election is two years away. Bryan may not run. But if he does, we feel safe in predicting that somebody will oppose him.

Asbury Spier who testified against the Hargrave-Callahan gang in the trials for the assassination of Attorney Marecum, was ambushed and fired upon in the mountains. If he remains in the mountain country and gets killed, the coroner's jury will logically justify in returning a verdict of suicide.

The British admiralty has decided to encourage cigarette smoking in the navy. Perhaps, the admiralty intends to employ cigarettes in naval engagements much as syphilis shells were used in smoking out the enemy in South Africa.

Return to Police Court.

Druggists Fined on Charge of Sunday Selling—Green Goods

BENCHBACK IS HEAVILY FINED

Police Judge E. H. Puryear held a lengthy session of police court this morning and had his first "second appearance" case to decide.

Will Hornsby, Arch Hland and Warren Hill, colored, were charged with being drunk and disorderly. They admitted being drunk and when Hornsby was sent to the stand Judge Puryear asked him if he had not been there before.

"Yes sir," he admitted, grinning from ear to ear.

"What were you here for?" the court inquired.

"For slapping a niggah woman."

"Did you slap her?"

"Reckon I did sir; you fined me to hit."

"This is the second time you have been before me, and I warned you not to come back. Fifty dollars and costs against you."

Hland had been up before and was given the same dose but as it was Hill's first offense, and he seemed to have fallen into bad company, the court dismissed him.

His Satanic Majesty Fined.

Rollie Head, the four foot dwarf who claimed Nashville his home and who declared to Special Policeman Paillie Kirk, of the Illinois Central force, when arrested that he was the Devil and came from where they "burn 'em" was fined $25 and costs in police court this morning for disorderly conduct. Head claimed that he was weak and half-starved and was given extra rations at the city jail. He carried with him bottle of chloroform with a nipple on the end. He stated he did this to "keep himself up."

Sunday Violation Cases.

Janie P. Sleeth, Roy S. Hallowe, Charles O. Ripley, L. H. and Phil Stephon, druggists, were each fined $25 and costs for selling liquor on the Sabbath. The case was tried Saturday but the opinion of the court held up pending his investigation of the statutes. Judge Puryear wanted to see if he could legally hold the proprietor for the net of his clerk. It is understood that two or the defendants will appeal.

House-Breaker Wolves Examination.

Will Tucker, colored, was presented for house-breaking. He was accused of entering the residence of Mr. C. H. Chanham and stealing a pistol and coat and was caught in the act with the goods on him. He waived examination and was held over.

Green Goods Cases Go Over.

The case against Thomas Warren and Thomas Franklin for the alleged swindling of Frank and Lafayette Robinson out of $470 went over again on account of the absence of witnesses.

Other cases: Henry Hardy, colored, drunk and disorderly, $50 and costs; W. C. Reynolds, carrying a pistol and brass knucks, $25 and costs and ten days in jail; Drew Starrett and Holt Jenkins, breach of peace, continued; Dee Jackson, breach of peace, continued; Tully Dryery company, breach of ordinance left open; Frank Blanchard, petty larceny, continued.

PEASANT PARTY.

Twenty-five Enjoy Hospitality of Mr. J. R. Thompson.

Mr. J. R. Thompson, of the county, entertained twenty-five friends at dinner at his pleasant country home yesterday. Included in the party were County Judge Lightfoot and Bert Johnson, county road supervisor. Barbecued meat and all the delicacies of the season were served to the guests, and the afternoon was idled away in the shade.

THROWS OVER CARGO.

New Orleans, August 6.—The breakdown at sea of the Norwegian steamship Venus, bound from Boca del Toro, Panama, to New Orleans, was reported today when the steamer Preston arrived. The Venus' boilers began to leak, and after having drifted at sea for 36 hours, she threw overboard her banana cargo and made Port Limon under temporary repairs.

FALL RIVER BOAT DISMISSED.

New London, Conn., Aug. 6.—The Fall River Line steamer Puritan from New York to Fall River broke her shaft off Gulf Island early this morning and whistled for assistance. She was towed in here and the passengers taken aboard in a special train to their destination.

JOY OF SALVATION
TOPIC OF SERMONRev. B. P. Fullerton Preaches to Presbyterians.

Presiding Elder Ellis Pulpit at the Broadway Methodist Church at both services.

REVIVAL COMES TO A CLOSE.

"The Joy of Salvation" was the theme of the discourse delivered yesterday morning by the Rev. B. P. Fullerton, of St. Louis, at the Presbyterian church, Sixth street and Kentucky avenue. The Rev. Mr. Fullerton, who is field secretary of the Presbyterian board of home missions, for the district formerly covered by the Cumberland church, is a pleasing speaker of sympathetic presence and he presents the gospel in a way that makes it a living, attractive force. His special plea was for Christians to live their religion; to be happy in it to seek the "Joy of Salvation." His message was one of optimism, and his truths were irresistible. The Rev. B. P. Fullerton is one of the best preachers heard in Paducah in a long time.

After the morning service the minister held a fifteen minute conference with the members of the church, concerning a pastor for this charge. At night he spoke on the union of the Cumberland and the General Presbyterian church, which the organization in Paducah has decided to join.

Presiding Elder Preaches.

Presiding Elder J. W. Blackard conducted the services at the Broadway Methodist church yesterday in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. T. J. Newell, who is out of the city, visiting Methodist colleges of the Memphis conference. The topic of his morning discourse was "A visitor of God," and of his evening sermon, "Gathering Up the Fragments." Large congregations were present at each service. Communion was held after the morning sermon.

Seeking New Pastor.

The committee appointed by the officers of the First Christian church have not selected any pastor as yet although they are corresponding with several. Regular services have not been held at this church since the pastor, the Rev. W. B. Pinkerton resigned several months ago. A regular pastor will probably be seen in the pulpit soon, however, as the committee has been instructed to call a pastor at once.

Communion Service.

Services were conducted at the Trimble street Methodist church yesterday morning and evening, by the pastor the Rev. W. W. Armstrong. At the morning service communion was observed. In the evening the sermon was on "Church and Money." Despite the warm day large congregation were present.

TO KILL EMANUEL.

It is Believed This Anarchist Was Killing to Italy.

New York, August 6.—A girdle loaded with dynamite and 42-calibre cartridges constituted the baggage of Gracemo Taulare, who had engaged passage on the Cretic, which sailed today from Hoboken to Genoa. Taulare was not allowed to sail and the Hoboken police are of the opinion that he is an anarchist that contemplated the assassination of the King of Italy.

JUST UNDER AGE.

But in Few Weeks Lucy Washington
Must Behave Himself.

A family bible was the star witness in the case against Lucy Washington, colored, this morning, and its testimony alone secured a dismissal in police court of the boy, who was charged with being an idiot and disorderly. Policeman Aaron Burley arrested Washington because he sat by a grocery too often talking and loitering about. The father testified that the boy was not 16 years old. The family Bible was produced and proved it. It will be only a few weeks before he will be old enough to be prosecuted in the police court and Judge Puryear gave him ample warning.

MANY FIRE TRAPS ALONG BROADWAY

Is Comment of Chief Wood, of the Department.

Shacks in Rear of Buildings Should Be Destroyed and Stricter Laws Adopted.

FIRE LIMIT EXTENDED WEST

Building laws that will adequately protect the business part of Paducah against danger from fire or collapse are urged by Fire Chief Wood, who has received copies of the building code adopted in a half dozen cities, to be submitted to a committee of the general council.

"At present we have no laws, except one establishing a fire limit," said the chief this morning. "And buildings are being erected according to any plan the architect, owner or contractor sees fit to prepare. Buildings are being erected that would not pass inspection. We should have certain rules, governing the size of the walls, the manner of construction and location of buildings, reasonable but strict, and the building inspector should have plenty of power."

"Then the fire limits should be extended, at least as far as Seventh street west, and really as far as Ninth street would be better. At present no wooden buildings may be erected between Clark and Monroe streets and the river and Fifth street. But back of all these brick and stone buildings on Broadway are innumerable little frame shacks that are a constant menace. We had a fire this morning in the rear of Whitehead's restaurant in a frame outhouse. It jeopardized the business part of the city. These buildings should be cleaned out. All the business section is full of firetraps."

HELD AS BY VICE WAS SWITCHMAN

Caught Between Drawheads and "Pinched."

Was Coupling Cars and Engine Backed Unexpectedly—Flesh Torn From Sides.

WAS CARRIED TO THE HOSPITAL

Switchman John E. George, of Adams and Fourth street, an employee of the Illinois Central but a few days, lies in the hospital on West Broadway seriously injured. He was caught between the drawheads of his engine and a caboose at 2:45 o'clock this morning in the shop yards while making a coupling. His right side was caught and two large holes torn in the flesh.

George was working on switch engine, No. 182, under Foreman Willott, and was preparing the drawheads for the coupling. The engine came back unexpectedly and George was "pinched." He was held as in a vice until the accident was discovered and the engine ran ahead. His body then dropped and George was carried to the shop and later to the hospital where the wounds were dressed.

George worked for the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis road in the local yards until three weeks ago when he resigned to go with the Illinois Central. He will recover. It is said.

CHAPTER III.
OAKLEY took the satchel from General Cornish's hand as the latter stepped from his private car. "You got my note, I see," he said. "I think I'll go to the hotel for the rest of the night."

He glanced back over his shoulder as he turned with Dan toward the bus which was waiting for them at the end of the platform.

"I guess no one else got off here. It's not much of a railroad center."

"No," agreed Oakley impatiently; "there are towns where the traffic is heavier."

Arrived at the hotel, Oakley led the way upstairs to the general's room. It adjoined his own. Cornish paused on the threshold until he had lighted the gas.

"Light the other burner, will you?" he requested. "There, thanks, that's better."

He was a portly man of sixty, with a large head and heavy face. His father had been a Vermont farmer, a man of position and means according to the easy standard of his times.

When the civil war broke out young Cornish, who was just commencing the practice of the law, had enlisted as a private in one of the first regiments raised by his state. Prior to this he had overflowed with fervid oratory and had tried hard to look like Daniel Webster, but a skirmish or two opened his eyes to the fact that the waging of war was a sober business and the polishing off of his sentences not nearly as important as the polishing off of the enemy. He was still willing to die for the Union if there was need of it, but while his life was spared it was well to get on. The numerical importance of number one was a belief too firmly implanted in his nature to be overthrown by any patriotic aberration.

His own merits, which he was among the first to recognize, and the solid backing his father was able to give won him promotion. He had risen to the command of a regiment, and when the war ended was brevetted a brigadier general of volunteers along with a score of other anxious warriors who wished to carry the title of general back into civil life, for he was an amiable sort of a Shylock, who seldom overlocked his pound of flesh, and he usually got all and a little more than was coming to him.

After the war he marched and went west, whence he returned the professional of his profession, but he soon abandoned it for a commercial career. It was not long until he was ranked as one of the rich men of his state. Then he turned his attention to politics. He was twice elected to congress and served one term as governor. One of his daughters had married an Italian prince, a sleek, pale little creature exactly five feet three inches tall. Another was engaged to an English earl, whose debts were a remarkable achievement for so young a man. His wife now divided her time between Paris and London. She didn't think much of New York, which had thought even less of her. He managed to see her once or twice a year. Any oftener would have been superfluous.

These were moments, however, when he felt his life to be wholly unsatisfactory. He derived very little pleasure from all the luxury that had accumulated about him and which he accepted with a curious placid indifference. He would have liked the affection of his children, to have had them at home, and there was a remote period in his past when his wife had inspired him with a sentiment at which he could only wonder. He held it against her that she had not understood.

He lurched down solidly into the chair Oakley placed for him. "I hope you are comfortable here," he said kindly.

"Oh, yes." He still stood.

"Sit down," said Cornish. "I don't, as a rule, believe in staying up after midnight to talk business, but I must stay east tomorrow."

He slipped out of his chair and began to pace the floor, with his hands thrust deep in his trouser pockets. "I want to talk over the situation here. I don't see that the road is ever going to make a dollar. I've an opportunity to sell it to the M. & W. Of course this is extremely confidential. It must not go any further. I am told they will discontinue it beyond this point, and of course they will either move the shops away or close them." He panted in his rapid walk. "It's too bad I never paid. It was the first thing I did when I came west. I thought it a pretty big thing then. I have always hoped it would justify my judgment, and it promised to for awhile until the timber interests played out. Now, what do you advise, Oakley? I want to get your ideas. You understand if I sell I won't lose much. The price offered will just about meet the mortgage I hold, but I guess the stockholders will come out at the little end of the horn."

Oakley understood exactly what was ahead of the stockholders if the road changed hands. Perhaps his face showed that he was thinking of the general observed charitably;

"It's unfortunate, but you can't mix sentiment in a transaction of this sort. I'd like to see them all get their money back, and more too."

His mental attitude toward the world was one of generous liberality, but he had such excellent control over his impulses that, while he always seemed about to embark in some large philanthropy, he had never been known to take even the first step in that direction. In short, he was hard and unemotional, but with a deceptive, unswerving kindness of manner which, while it had probably never involved a dollar of his riches, had at divers times cost the unwary and the innocent much money.

"I am sure the road could be put on a paying basis," said Oakley. "Certain quite possible economies would do that. Of course we can't create business; there is just so much of it, and we get it all as it is. But the shops might be made very profitable. I have secured a good deal of work for them and I shall secure more. I had intended to propose a number of reforms, but if you are going to sell, why, there's no use of going into the matter"— He paused.

The general meditated in silence for a moment.

"I'd hate to sacrifice my interests if I thought you could ever make the road pay expenses. Now, just what do you intend to do?"

"I'll get my order book and show you what's been done for the shops," said Oakley, rising with alacrity. "I have figured out the changes, too, and you can see at a glance just what I propose doing."

The road and the shops employed some 500 men, most of whom had their homes in Antioch. Oakley knew that if the property was sold it would practically wipe the town out of existence. The situation was full of interest for him. If Cornish approved and told him to go ahead with his reforms, it would be an opportunity such as he had never known.

He went into his own room, which opened off Cornish's, and got his order book and table of figures, which he had carried up from the office that afternoon.

He had taken a great deal of pains with his figures, and they seemed to satisfy Cornish that the road if properly managed was not such a hopeless proposition after all. Something might be done with it.

Oakley rose in his good esteem. He had liked him, and he was justifying his good opinion. He beamed benevolently on the young man and thawed out of his habitual reserve into a genial, ponderous frankness.

"You have done well," he said, glancing through the order book, with evident satisfaction.

"Of course," explained Oakley. "I am going to make a cut in wages this spring if you agree to it, but I haven't the figures for this yet." The general nodded. He approved of cuts on principle.

"That's always a wise move," he said. "Will they stand it?"

"They'll have to." And Oakley laughed rather gaily. He appreciated that his reforms were likely to make him very unpopular in Antioch. "They shouldn't object. If the road changes hands it will kill their town."

"I suppose so," agreed Cornish indifferently.

"And half a loaf is lots better than no bread," added Oakley. Again the general nodded his approval.

"What sort of shape is the shop in?" he asked after a moment's silence.

"Very good on the whole."

"I am glad to hear you say so. I spent over a hundred thousand dollars on the plant originally."

"Of course the equipment can hardly be called modern, but it will be greatly to your credit. I was going to offer you another position, but we will let that go over for the present. I am very much pleased, though, with all you have done; very much pleased indeed. I go abroad in about two weeks. My youngest daughter is to be married in London to the Earl of Mincaster." The title rolled glibly from the great man's lips. "So you'll have the fight, if it is a fight, all to yourself. I'll see that Holloway does what you say. He's the only one you'll have to look to in my absence, but you won't be able to count on him for anything. He gets high in a crisis. Just don't make the mistake of asking his advice."

Oakley explained. "Well, it will be an interesting problem for a young man, Oakley. If you pull the property off it will be greatly to your credit. I was going to offer you another position, but we will let that go over for the present. I am very much pleased, though, with all you have done; very much pleased indeed. I go abroad in about two weeks. My youngest daughter is to be married in London to the Earl of Mincaster." The title rolled glibly from the great man's lips. "So you'll have the fight, if it is a fight, all to yourself. I'll see that Holloway does what you say. He's the only one you'll have to look to in my absence, but you won't be able to count on him for anything. He gets high in a crisis. Just don't make the mistake of asking his advice."

"I'll rather have no advice," interrupted Dan hastily, "unless it's yours."

"I'll see that you are not bothered. You are the sort of fellow who will do better with a free hand, and that is what I intend you shall have."

"Thank you," said Oakley, his heart warming with the other's praise.

"I shall be back in three months, and then if your schemes have worked out at all as we expect, why, we can consider putting the property in better shape." (A part of Oakley's plan.)

"As you say, it's gone down so there won't be much but the right of way present."

"I hope that eventually they'll be profits," said Oakley, whose mind was beginning to reach out into the future.

"I guess the stockholders will drop dead if we ever earn a dividend. That's the last thing they are looking forward to," remarked Cornish dryly. "Will you leave a 6:30 call at the office for me? I forgot, and I must take the first train. Good night."

AFTER NUDE IN ART.

Anthony Comstock Thinks Prospective of Institution Immoral.

New York, Aug. 6.—Upon a warrant sworn out by Anthony Comstock, secretary of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, the studios of the Art Students' League, one of the most noted art schools in America, were today searched, and the hookkeeper, Miss Anna Robinson, was placed under arrest. It was charged by agents of the society that the reproduction of figures in the nude contained in the full catalogue which the league was about to issue were of an immoral character. A patrol wagon load of the catalogues was seized and taken to the police court as evidence. Magistrate Mayo adjourned for a further hearing on August 7 the charges against Miss Robinson, the only person placed under arrest. The pamphlet seized by the society's agents is the one issued regularly each fall to prospective students, and shows pictures of the work turned out by the students of the school. The issue is styled "The American Student of Art," a dozen and specimens pictured are such as are seen in any art studio museum. In the book there are but two pages devoted to the nude. The Art Students' League maintains in 215 West Fifty-seventh street studios and apartments for explanations in fine arts. No question has ever been raised before as to the character of the pamphlets issued or of the art exhibited.

LAST WEEK OF STOCK.

Casino Company Distracts Saturday Night and Opera Follows.

This is the last week of melodrama at the Wallace Park Casino, as Manager William Malone's players leave to fill winter engagements. On Monday the Regal Prince Opera company opens, and will present four different operas a week during the engagement. This attraction will be followed by a season of vaudeville. The moving pictures will continue to be a feature at the park, and some pictures of the Friaul disaster will shortly be produced.

Melodrama is the bill at the Casino this week, and the popularity of the show last week will be duplicated.

One of the items that went to make this season so popular was the excellent settings of the pieces. Manager Malone, who is a past-master at stage dressing, has used the limited equipment of the summer to the best advantage.

Members of the stock company, as well as patrons of the house, were sorry to see G. W. Harrington, the popular comedian, leave. After playing the part of "Ratner" in the "Heart of Kentucky," Saturday night he started for his home in Toledo, O., where he visits this week, and then goes to New York to rehearse one of the principal parts in Whiting's "My Wife's Family."
